INTRODUCTION.

AS already explained in the Introduction to the last volume of these Court Leet Records, which ended with the proceedings of the Court held at Easter, 1687, there is a most unfortunate break in their continuity, owing to the loss of the volume containing the accounts of the Courts held between Michaelmas, 1687, and Easter, 1731. This volume was never in the possession of the Corporation, and there is evidence to show that it was lost as long ago as 1826, twenty years before the Corporation acquired the manor of Manchester. The period 1687 to 1731 was an important one in the history of the town, as the population was rapidly growing, and the town was being constantly extended. New streets were made, St. Ann's Square was laid out in what had previously been the Acres or Accers Field, and the new church of St. Ann's was built. Consequently when this volume commences we have to deal with several streets which had not previously been in existence, and there will also be found many changes in the names of those, who took an active part in the management of local affairs, as compared with the previous volumes.

This volume begins with the Court held on the 1st October, 1731, and comes down to that held on the 29th April, 1756, a period of twenty-five and a half years. The proceedings of these Courts differ in many respects from those in the previous volumes. They are much shorter, and the long lists of those persons, who were fined for various offences, no longer occur. There are, however, lists of persons, chiefly strangers, who were punished for various infringements of the bye-laws of the town, such as selling bad meat, offering butter and other commodities under weight, or buying and selling the same article on the same day. The townspeople were also from time to time admonished and fined for having unjust weights and measures, for feeding horses in the streets or allowing them to stand there, for allowing carts and wagons to stand in the highways, for not repairing the streets in front of their houses, and many similar matters.

The number of officers appointed at the Michaelmas Court in 1731 was 123, showing an increase on the numbers given in previous volumes. All these officers had to do their duty, and to make "presentments" of any offences which came before them. In default of so doing they were "presented" themselves, and fined by the Court Leet Jury. At each Michaelmas Court a Deputy Constable, with a salary of £10 per annum, afterwards raised to £20, and a Beadle, with a salary of £5, afterwards raised to £7 per annum, were regularly appointed, and a "Winter Watch" was ordered to be kept from the end of October to the end of March. In connection with this, the Constables were enjoined to see that this Winter Watch was "performed by able bodyed men from the usual time in the Evening till five in the Morning." The Beadle was an important personage in the town, and was yearly provided with a new suit of clothes, two pairs of scarlet stockings, and two pairs of shoes, and he had his staff of office newly gilt each year.

The names of the new "burgesses" who were admitted are given from time to time, but not nearly so regularly as in the earlier volumes; and, unfortunately, no particulars are recorded as to whether they had succeeded their fathers or other relations, or whether they had become burgesses in right of having purchased lands within the town. Owing to this it has not been found possible to give any genealogical notes, as were given in the previous volumes. That a good deal of importance was attached to this privilege is shown by the fact that on the 13th October, 1736, Mr. John Oliver was elected Boroughreeve, but it being objected to him that he was "no burgess," Mr. Jonathan Lees was elected in his place on the 27th October in that year. (See p. 50.) It is also noteworthy that after the first meeting of the Court Leet, which was probably held in the Court House or Town Hall, the Jury adjourned from time to time to some of the chief inns or coffee houses in the town. The "Old Coffee House," "the Angel Inn," and "the Bull's Head Inn" were the favourite places of resort.

At the Michaelmas meetings of the Court the trustees of the several charities known as Clarke's Charity, Marshall's Charity, and Nugent's Charity presented their accounts, which were examined, and, if correct, passed by the Jury. At the same time the Borough-reeve for the past year produced the accounts of the money, which he had expended on the affairs of the town, and the Constables produced their accounts, and both these were examined by the Jury, and passed, if correct. Occasionally, however, some items of expenditure would be objected to. Thus in 1750 (see p. 195) it is recorded that "we the Jurors aforenamed have perused the Accounts of Mr John Markland and Mr John Gatliffe late Constables and find a Charge of Two pounds and Two Shillings upon the Thirtieth day of October given to the Soldiers besides the Expence of Wine at the Bonefire which Article not appearing in former Accounts Except in the year 1743 One pound and one Shilling paid for the same purpose We therefore (to prevent its becoming a precedent) do Order that for the future no Expence of that Nature be made by the Constables and Charged in their Account. And that a Copy of this order be Transcribed into the Constables Book." This order was confirmed at the Michaelmas Court held in 1751. (See p. 206.)

Quite recently, the volume containing the CONSTABLES' ACCOUNTS between the years 1743 and 1776 has come into the possession of the Corporation, having been purchased at the sale of the late Mr. James Crossley's library. As an illustration of the interesting character of the entries this volume contains, I have printed in an Appendix the accounts for the year, beginning in October, 1745, that memorable year when the army of the Young Pretender, Prince Charles Edward, marched into the town and stayed there two days, and subsequently revisited it when retreating from Derby. These accounts will, I think, be found of much general interest, for not only are they very minute in character, every item of expenditure being separately entered, but they throw much light upon the amusements and management of the affairs of the town at that time. The King's birthday was a day of rejoicing in the town; a "bonfire" was lighted, and a large sum of money was spent on "wine," music, &c., for the gratification of the gentry of the town. There are many entries of soldiers passing through the town, or near it, and illuminations took place on the surrender of Carlisle, and a bonfire was lighted on the occasion of the defeat of the rebels at Culloden. But, perhaps, the most noteworthy entry is the one referring to the placing of the heads of Thomas Theodores Deacon and Thomas Syddall on the top of the Exchange, after their execution at Kennington Common, near London, on the 30th July, 1746. This entry reads as follows:—

Sept 18. Expenses tending the Sheriff this morn, Syddall's & Deacon's heads put up ... ... } —00 01 06

It is to be hoped that the Corporation may some day arrange to have the contents of this volume of Constables' Accounts printed in their entirety. They would make a volume of much local interest and value.

When the proceedings of the Courts printed in this volume begin, the manor of Manchester was held by LADY ANNE BLAND, widow. She was the only daughter and heiress of Sir Edward Mosley, Knt., who, as already explained in the last volume (p. 216), had succeeded to the manor of Manchester in 1683. By his wife, Jane Meriel, daughter of Richard Salstonstall, of Huntwick, co. York, gentleman, he had three sons, who all died unmarried, and one daughter, Anne. He was knighted by King William III., and was buried at Didsbury on the 31st July, 1695. By his will dated 24th May, 1695, he devised the manor of Manchester and his lands, &c., there, to his daughter for her life, with remainder to his nephew, Oswald Mosley, of the Ancoats, Esq., and his heirs for ever. This daughter, Anne Mosley, was married at Chorlton Chapel on the 31st March, 1685, to Sir John Bland, of Kippax Park, co. York, Bart., and on her father's death in 1695 she succeeded to the manor of Manchester, and was holding it when this volume begins in 1695. She lost her husband in 1715, he being buried at Didsbury on the 29th October in that year. She survived him till 1734, being buried there on the 3rd August in that year. During the greater part of her life she resided at Hulme Hall, near Manchester, and occupied a very high position in the town and neighbourhood. She laid the foundation stone of St. Ann's Church on the 19th May, 1709, and contributed largely towards its erection. She was succeeded by SIR OSWALD MOSLEY, BART., who was the eldest son and heir of Oswald Mosley, of Ancoats, Esq., the nephew of Sir Edward Mosley, of Hulme, Knt., who died in 1695, and who had, as previously stated, devised the manor of Manchester to him after the death of his only daughter, Lady Anne Bland. He married Elizabeth, daughter of John Thornhaugh, of Fenton, co. Nottingham, Esq., and died in June, 1751, when he was succeeded by his son and heir, SIR OSWALD MOSLEY, BART., the second Baronet of that name, who was lord of the manor of Manchester when this volume closes.

Mr. Thomas Lunt held the office of Steward of the Court when this volume begins, and he retained it till April, 1734, when the name of Thomas Pigot, Esq., appears as Steward. At the following Court, after the death of Lady Bland, William Radclyff, gentleman, was Steward, and Francis Mosley, gentleman, Deputy Steward. The Courts continued to be held before Mr. Radclyff till April, 1744, when John Harrison, gentleman, appears as Deputy Steward, and in October of that year he is called Steward. This office he retained till 1751, when, on the accession of the new lord of the manor, Thomas Pigot, Esq., became Steward. He continued to act in this capacity till April, 1756, the last Court contained in this volume, when the name of Joseph Clowes, Esq., occurs as Steward.

As in previous volumes, the proceedings of the Courts here printed have been compared, line for line, with the original, so as to ensure an exact reproduction in print. As already explained, it has not been found possible to add as many notes as in the previous volumes, which I much regret.

[1] Lady Anne Bland was the only daughter and heiress of Sir Edward Mosley, Knt., who, as already explained in the last volume (vol. vj., p. 216), had succeeded to the manor of Manchester in the year 1683. This Sir Edward Mosley (who was the second son of Oswald Mosley, of Ancoats, Esq.) was born at Manchester, and baptized at the Collegiate Church there on the 6th December, 1618. He married Jane Meriel, daughter of Richard Salstonstall, of Huntwick, co. York, gentleman, by whom he had three sons, Nicholas, Edward, and Francis, who all died unmarried, and one daughter, Anne. He was knighted by William III. at Whitehall, and died in 1695, being buried at Didsbury on the 31st July in that year. His will, dated 24th May, 1695, is printed in Booker's History of Didsbury, pp. 162-5. He devised the manor of Manchester, and his lands, tenements, &c., there, to his daughter for her life, with remainder to his nephew, Oswald Mosley, of the Ancoats, Esq., and his heirs for ever. His only daughter and heiress, Anne Mosley, was married at Chorlton Chapel on the 31st March, 1685, to Sir John Bland, of Kippax, co. York, Bart., and she succeeded to the manor of Manchester on her father's death in 1695, and was the lady of the manor at the time this volume of the Records begins.

[2] The date when Mr. Thomas Lunt first acted as Steward of the Court would probably appear in the now missing volume of Court Leet Records, 1687 to 1731.

[1] This word occurs here for the first time in these Records, and I cannot trace it in the Lancashire Glossary or in Halliwell's Archaic Dictionary. It evidently means stopped up.

[2] Unfortunately, from the way in which the names of the new burgesses are now entered, it is not possible to ascertain who they really were, and so to obtain any genealogical information about them. In the previous volumes it was generally stated that such-and-such new burgesses had succeeded their fathers or other relations or else that they had purchased lands within the manor. But in this volume there is absolutely no information given beyond the name, so that it is impossible to append any notes.

[1] This is the first time, I believe, that this officer of the town has been mentioned.

[2] I can only understand this as meant for the plural form of "strike," a measure containing two pecks, still in use in Lancashire and elsewhere. Halliwell, however, in his Dictionary of Archaic Words, &c., has "Stroak, two pecks of corn," used in Yorkshire. It is therefore possible that "stroke" may have been an old Lancashire word, meaning two pecks of corn, now forgotten. The word has not previously occurred in these Records.

[1] This was a new "cuck stool," or "cucking stool," so often mentioned in these Records, and which had to be kept in order by the Court Leet. It was used for the punishment of scolding women and women of ill-repute, who were securely tied in the chair or stool fastened at the end of a long beam, working on a pivot. The chair was then pushed over a pool of water, in which the culprit was ducked or "cucked" a certain number of times. (See vol. ij., p. 6.) "The usual place" at this time was, I think, the Horse pool in Market stid lane, near the present High Street.

[1] See p. 155.

Then the said Court[s] were Adjourned to Wednesday the Twenty first day of November next at Two of the Clock in the afternoon to the House of Mrs Chapman Widow known by the Name of the Bulls Head Inn[1] in Manchester.

Be it Remembered That on the Thirty first day of October at the Adjournment of these Courts Mr Richard Taylor produced his Accounts for the proceeding Year as Trustees [sic] for Clarks Lands (the neat proceeds of which are to be paid by the said Trustee into the Hands of the Boroughreeve) that the same might be Examined and Approved as usual, which was not Approved of or Signed by the Jury because it appeared that the Trustees had paid the Sum of Ten pounds which it is apprehended (by the Donors will) they had no right to do; to wit, to John Hulme who holds part of the said Lands two pounds (he being poor) and to George Drinkwater (he having lost four Cows) Eight pounds It is to be Noted that the said George Drinkwaters loss was nigh repaired by a Collect[i]on in the Town and Neighbourhood. It also appeared that part of the said Lands formerly were let to Mr Samuel Meller and he engaged to improve or Build upon the same in Consideration of a Lease then Granted of the said premisses for Twenty one Years at the Annual Rent of Twenty two pounds which Term is near Expired, and a ffresh Lease for the like Term of Twenty one Years appears to have been lately Granted by the Trustees of the said Charity to the said Mr Meller without any Advance of Rent tho' the said premisses are more than three times the said Value.

We the Jurors aforenamed met this Twenty first day of November pursuant to the above Adjournment, Do amerce Mr William Marriott in the sum of Two pounds and two Shillings for peremptorily refusing to appear to be Sworn or to take upon [him] the Office of Misegatherer to which he is Elected.

upon presentment of the Officers Searchers and Sealers of Leather We amerce Joseph Rigby in or near Heaton Norris for Cutting and impairing a Calfs Skin and forcibly taking it away Contrary to [the] Act of Parliament in the Sum of Ten Shillings.

We the Jurors aforenamed have perused the Accounts of Mr John Markland and Mr John Gatliffe late Constables and find a Charge of Two pounds and Two Shillings upon the Thirtieth day of October given to the Soldiers besides the Expence of Wine at the Bonefire which Article not appearing in former Accounts Except in the Year 1743[1] One pound and one Shilling paid for the same purpose We therefore (to prevent its becoming a precedent) do Order that for the future no Expence of that Nature be made by the Constables and Charged in their Account. And that a Copy of this order be Transcribed into the Constables Book.

We the Jurors aforenamed do Revive and Confirm an Order made by this Court at Easter 1738[2] to prevent Butchers Exposing Meat to Sale in the Market place after Eleven of the Clock on Saturday night and do now order the Bailiff of this Court to Ring a Bell half an Hour after Ten o'Clock and again at Eleven at which time the Butchers are immediately to quit their Stalls on pain of being Amerced in the Sum of Twenty Shillings for every offence and that publick Notice be given by the Bellman of this Order on Saturday next.

We the Jurors aforenamed do Ratifye and Confirm all former good Orders made by former Jurors of these Courts.

We the Jurors aforenamed do Amerce the following persons for neglecting to bring their presentments in the Sum of Two Shillings and Sixpence each (to witt)

[1] Unfortunately the Constables' Accounts for the years 1746 to 1752 are missing from the volume of Constables' Accounts, 1743 to 1776, which was bought by the Corporation at the sale of the late Mr. James Crossley's library. The 30th October was the King's (George II.'s) birthday, and it seems to have been kept with much rejoicing in the town. A bonfire was provided, and the King's health and other loyal toasts were drunk by the gentry at a cost of £4 or £5 to the rates (see Appendix No. 1). The entry specially referred to in the text, as passed in 1743, is as follows :—

"1743. Oct. 30 to sundrys for Ale to the Soldiers Ld Mark Kerrs Drags 1 1 0"

The other entries on that occasion are :—

"1743. Oct. 30 to a Boonfire, his Majesty's Birthday ... ... 0 6 0" to Mrs Dickanson for wine and broken glasses ... ... 4 3 2"

[2] See p. 70.

APPENDIX No. I.

CONSTABLES' ACCOUNTS, OCTOBER, 1745, TO OCTOBER, 1746.

THERE are so many references in this volume to the Constables' Accounts, which were annually produced before the Court Leet Jury and examined and passed by them, that it seems desirable to print one year's Accounts here as a specimen. This it is now possible to do, owing to the fact that at the recent sale of the late Mr. James Crossley's library, the Corporation were fortunate enough to secure the volume of Constables' Accounts for the years 1743 to 1776, which had been over thirty years in Mr. Crossley's possession, he having purchased it in November, 1851, from a Manchester bookseller, to whom it had been sold as waste paper! This volume, which is full of very interesting material for the history of Manchester during the middle of the last century, is a valuable addition to the treasures of the Muniment Room in the Town Hall, and it is much to be hoped that it may some day be printed in full. The Corporation is also fortunate in possessing one other volume of Constables' Accounts for the early part of the seventeenth century, but the other volumes are believed to have long since disappeared. The Constables' Accounts for the year 1615-16, which occur at the end of the second MS. volume of the Court Leet Records, have already been printed in vol. ij. of these Records, pp. 333-5

The year selected, October, 1745, to October, 1746, is one of much importance in the history of Manchester, for on the 29th November, 1745, the army of the Young Pretender marched into the town and remained there two days. They were again in the town on the 8th December, when retreating from Derby. These visits are duly alluded to in the following Accounts, which will be found to contain many entries relating to the "Rebels" and their doings. Mr. Fowden, one of the Constables for this year, was tried for high treason in 1747, but was acquitted, it being proved that the acts, alleged against him, had been done under compulsion by the Rebels. There are many entries in these Accounts relating to soldiers' wives, &c., who were following the regiments in which their husbands were serving, and the references to them are more numerous than usual, owing to so many regiments being sent from place to place on account of the Young Pretender's invasion.

[1] That is, "big with child," it being then the law that pauper women who were enceinte should be sent on from parish to parish till they reached their place of birth, so as to avoid burdening any other parish with the cost of the maintenance of the child.

[2] This entry occurs frequently in the subsequent accounts. In those for 1746-7 it is thus entered :—

"Oct. 30 pd for wine and musick at drinking the healths [of the King, &c.] i'th' Square ... ... 4 3 3"

[3] Persons travelling from one part of the country to another were passed on from parish to parish by means of "passes" signed by one or more magistrates. There are many similar entries in these accounts.

[1] The engines were regularly exercised about once in every two months to see that they were in proper order for the extinction of fires, &c.

[2] These two entries show how the authorities of the town were troubled when the advance of the Rebel Army became known.

[3] The entries to which an asterisk * is put have a special mark in red ink made against them, and this entry, "for the sums thus markt thro' out this Acc^{t} see Const. Acc^{t} 1748;" but, unfortunately, there is a gap in the volume from 1746 to 1752, the intervening accounts having been taken out or lost. These entries all relate to payments made on behalf of the Rebels, and no doubt were referred to at the trial of Mr. Fowden, one of the two Constables, in 1747.

[1] This is a very noteworthy entry, "Syddall's & Deacon's heads put up" in the presence of and by the orders of the Sheriff. Thomas Theodorus Deacon was one of the three sons of Dr. Deacon, a non-jurying minister in Manchester, who joined the Rebel army and became officers in "the Manchester Regiment," as it was called. Thomas Syddall was the son of Thomas Syddall, a peruke maker, who had been executed in 1716, for taking part in the rebellion of 1715. He joined the Rebels in Manchester, and acted as adjutant of the Manchester Regiment. They and other officers of this regiment, who were taken prisoners at Carlisle, were tried for High Treason in London, and were executed on Kennington Common on the 30th July. Their heads were distributed to various places, and were preserved in spirits for that purpose. Those of Deacon and Syddall were put up on the Exchange in Manchester, but not till seven weeks after their execution.

Elected 22nd Oct., 1751 to Oct., 1752	JOHN MOSS JOSEPH ALEXANDER THOMAS PARKER

[1] This is the only instance, I believe, in which the Christian name of the Borough-reeve is not given in these Records. It is the more unfortunate as the year in which he held office is memorable for the visit of the Young Pretender's army to Manchester. It seems probable that he was Mr. Robert Fielden who was one of the two Constables elected 10th October, 1733. (See p. 142.)
